AN UNWELCOME PASSENGER.

A PEDDLER'S STORY.

A cold winter's night several years since, found a stage load of passengers gathered together around a warm fire of a tavern bar-room in a New England village. Shortly after we arrived a peddler drove up and ordered that his horse should be stabled for the night. After we had eaten supper we repaired to the bar-room, where conversation flowed freely. Several anecdotes had been related, and finally the peddler was asked to give us a story, as the men of his profession were generally full of adventures and anecdotes. He was a short, thick set man, somewhere about forty years of age, and gave evidence of great physical strength. He gave his name as Lemuel Vinney, and his home was in Dover, New Hampshire.

"Well, gentlemen," he commenced, knocking the ashes from his pipe, and putting it in his pocket, "suppose I tell you the last thing of any consequence that happened me. You see I am now right from the West, and on my way home for winter quarters. It was during the early part of last spring, one pleasant evening, that I pulled up at the door of a small village tavern in Hancock county, Indiana. I went in, called for my supper, and had my horse taken care of. After I had eaten, I sat down in the bar-room. It began to rain about eight o'clock, and it was very dark out of doors. Now, I wanted to be in Jackson the next morning, for I expected a load of goods there for me, which I intended to dispose of on my way home.

The moon would rise about midnight and I knew if it did not rain I could get along through the mud very well after that. So I asked the landlord if he would see that my horse was fed about midnight, as I wished to be off about two. He expressed some surprise at this and asked me why I did not stay for breakfast. I told him that I had sold my last load about out, and that a new lot of goods was waiting for me at Jackson, and I wanted to get there before the express agent left in the morning.

There were a number of persons sitting around while I told this, but I took little notice of them; only one arrested my attention. I had seen that week a notice, for the detection of a notorious robber. The bills gave a description of his person, and the man before me answered very well to it. He was a tall, well formed man, rather slight in frame, and had the appearance of a gentleman, save that his face bore those hard, cruel marks which an observing man cannot mistake for anything but the index of a villainous disposition.

When I went to my chamber I asked the landlord who that man was, describing the individual. He said he did not know him. He had come there that afternoon, and intended to leave the next day. The host asked me why I wished to know and I told him that the man's countenance was familiar, and I merely wished to know if I was ever acquainted with him.

I was resolved not to let the landlord into the secret, but to hurry on to Jackson, and there to give information to the sheriff and perhaps he might reach the inn before the villain left, for I had no doubt as to his identity.

I had an alarm watch, and having set it to give the alarm at one o'clock, I went to sleep. I was alarmed at the proper time, and immediately dressed myself. When I reached the yard I found the clouds all passed away, and the moon was shining brightly. The hostler was easily aroused, and by two o'clock was on the road. The mud was deep, and my horse could not travel very fast. However, on we went, and in the course of half an hour was clear of the village. At a short distance ahead lay a large forest, mostly of great pine. The road lay directly through this wood, and, as near as I can remember, the distance was twelve miles Yet the moon was in the east, and as the road ran nearly in the West, I thought I should have light enough.

I had entered this wood and had gone about half a mile, when my wagon wheel settled with a bump and a jerk into a deep hole. I uttered an exclamation of astonishment, but this was not all. I heard another exclamation from the same cause. What could this mean? I looked quietly around but could see nothing; yet I know that the sound was very close behind me. As the hind wheels came up I felt something beside the jerk from the hole. I heard something tumble from one side to another of my wagon, and I could also feel the jar occasioned by the movement. It was simply a man in my cart. I knew this on the instant. Of course I felt puzzled. At first I imagined that some one had taken this method to obtain a ride. My next idea was that somebody got in to sleep there; but this passed away as soon as it came, for no man would have broken into my cart for that purpose. And that thought, gentlemen, opened my eyes. Whoever was there had broken in. My next thought was of the suspicious individual I had seen at the tavern. He heard me say that my load was all sold out, and of course he supposed I had money with me. In this he was right, for I had over two thousand dollars. I thought he meant to leave the cart when he supposed I had reached a safe place, and then creep over and shoot me, or knock me down. All this passed through my mind by the time I had got a rod from the hole.

In a few moments my resolution was formed. My horse was knee deep in the mud, and I knew I could slip off without noise. So I drew my pistol, and having twined my reins about the whip stock, carefully slipped down in the mud, and examined the hasp. The outer door of the cart lets down, and is fastened by a hasp, which slips over the staple and is then secured by a padlock. The padlock was gone, and then the hasp was secured in its own place by a bit of pine, so that a slight force from within would break it. My wheel wrench stood in a leathern bucket on the side of the cart, and I quickly took it out and slipped it into the staple, the iron handle just sliding down.

Now I had him. My cart was almost new, made of a stout frame of white oak, and made on purpose for hard usage. I did not believe an ordinary man could break out. I got on my cart as noiselessly as I got off, and then urged my horse on, still keeping my pistol handy. I knew that at a distance of half a mile further I should come to a hard road, and so I allowed my horse to pitch his own way through the mud.

About ten minutes after this I heard a motion in the cart, followed by a grinding noise, as though some heavy force was being applied to the door. I said nothing, but the idea struck me that the villain might judge where I sat, and shoot up through the cart at me; so I sat down on the foot board.

Of course I knew that my unexpected passenger was a villain, for he must have been awake ever since I started, and nothing in the world but absolute villainy would have caused him to keep quiet so long, and then start up in this particular place. The thumping and pushing grew louder, and pretty soon I heard a human voice.

"Let me out of this!" and he yelled pretty loud.

I lifted my head so as to make him think I was in the usual place, and then asked him what he was doing there.

"Let me out and I will tell you," he replied.

"Tell me what you are in there for!" said I.

"I got in here to sleep on rags," he answered.

"How did you get in?" I asked.

"Let me out, or I'll shoot you through the head!" he replied.

Just at that moment my horse's feet struck the hard road, and I knew that the rest of the route to Jackson would be good going; the distance twelve miles. I slipped back to the front board and took the whip. In fifteen minutes we cleared the woods, and away we went at a keen jump. The chap inside kept yelling to be let out.

Finally he stopped, and in a few minutes came the report of a pistol—one—two—three—four, one right after the other, and I heard the balls whiz over my head. If I had been on my seat, one of those balls, if not two of them, would have gone through me. I popped up my head again and gave a yell, and then I said, "O God, save me!—I'm a dead man!" Then I made a kind of shuffling noise, as though I was falling off, and finally settled down on the front board again. I now urged up the old mare by giving her an occasional poke with my whip stock, and she peeled it faster than ever.

The man called out to me twice more pretty soon after this, and as he got no reply he made some tremendous efforts to break the door open, and as this also at last failed him, he made several attempts on the top. But I had no more fear of his doing anything there, for the top of the cart was framed with dove tails, and each sleeper bolted to the post with iron bolts, I had it made so I could carry loads there. By and by, after all else failed, the scamp commenced to yell "whoa" to the horse. All this time I kept perfectly quiet, holding the reins firmly, and kept poking the beast with the stock of my whip. We were not an hour going that dozen miles, not a bit of it, and I had not much fear; perhaps I might tell the truth and say I had none, for I had a good pistol, and more than that my passenger was safe, yet I was glad when I came to the Jackson village, and in ten minutes more hauled up in front of the tavern, and found a couple of men in the barn cleaning down some stage horses.

"Well, old fellow," said I, as I got down and went to the back of the wagon, "you have had a good ride, haven't you?"

"Who are you?" he said, and he swore as he asked the question.

"I am the man you tried to shoot," was my reply.

"Where am I?—let me out."

"Look here, we've come to a safe stopping place, and mind you that my pistol is ready for you the moment you show yourself. Now lay quiet.

By this time the two hostlers had come to see what was the matter, and I explained the case. After this I got one of them to run and rout the sheriff and tell him what I believed I'd got for him. The first streak of daylight was coming up, and in half an hour it was broad daylight. In less than that time the sheriff came and two men with him. I told him the whole affair in a few words and then made for the cart. He told the chap inside who he was, and if he made the least resistance he'd be a dead man. I then slipped the iron wrench out, and as I let the door down the fellow made a spring. I caught him by the ankle and he came down on his face, and the moment I saw the chap I recognized him. He was marched to the lock up, and I told the sheriff I should remain in town all day.—After breakfast the sheriff came down to the tavern and told me I had caught the very bird, and that if I would remain until next Monday I should have the reward of two hundred dollars which had been offered.

I found my goods all safe, paid the express agent for bringing them from Indianapolis, and then went to stow them away in my cart. The bullet-holes were found in the top of the vehicle just as I expected. They were in a line, about five inches apart, and had I been where I usually sit, two of them must have hit me somewhere about the small of the back and passed upward, for they were sent with heavy charges of powder, and his pistols were heavy ones.

On the next morning the sheriff called upon me and paid me two hundred dollars in gold, for he had made himself sure that he had got the villain.

I afterwards found a letter in the post-office at Portsmouth for me, from the sheriff of Hancock county, and he informed me that the fellow who tried to kill and rob me is in prison for life.

MEN WANTED.

The great want of this age is men. Men who are not for sale. Men who are honest, sound from centre to circumferance, true to the heart's core. Men who fear the Lord and covetousness. Men who will condemn wrong in friend or foe, in themselves as well as in others. Men whose consciences are steady as the needle to the pole. Men who will stand for the right if the heavens totter and the earth reels. Men who can tell the truth and look the world and the devil right in the eye. Men that neither swagger nor flinch. Men who can have courage without whistling for it and joy without shouting to bring it. Men in whom the current of everlasting life runs still, and deep, and strong. Men careful of God's honor and careless of Men's applause. Men too large for sectarian limits and too strong for sectarian bands. Men who do not strive, nor cry, nor cause their voices to be heard in the streets, but who will not fail nor be discouraged, till judgment be set in the earth. Men who know their message and tell it. Men who mind their own business. Men who will not lie. Men who are not too lazy to work, nor too proud to be poor. Men who are willing to eat what they have paid for. Men who know in whom they have believed. Men whose feet are on the everlasting rock. Men who are not ashamed of their hope. Men who are strong in divine strength, wise with the wisdom that cometh from above, and loving with the love of christ. Men of God!

FOOD FOR BONDHOLDERS.

The Hamilton Spectator publisned in Canada West, of the 19th ult., contained the following startling paragraph, which our capitalists will do well to read and seriously ponder upon:

The late rapid decline in United States securities in England has excited considerable surprise. When we read the incendiary speeches of the Radical leaders, however, their open threats of civil war and fixed determination to regard the Southern States as conquered provinces and not as a portion of a restored Union, we can scarcely wonder at this decline. Until the difficulty at present existing between the President and Congress is settled, confidence cannot be expected to revive. Capitalists will not care to invest their money in a country so torn by political differences and unsettled by political uneasiness. We learn that investments in United States securities have almost ceased, not only in London, but also in Frankfort, the quotations being almost entirely nominal. At the same time all other securities maintain their prices, Austrian included, which are deemed more worthy of confidence than those of the American republic. The consequence of the decline in American securities in Europe will, in due course of time, be a corresponding depression in the States, coupled with a depreciation in the currency, and a consequent rise in the price of gold. And all this is the result of the blustering vaporing of the Radical party, their constantly reiterated threats of war with Great Britain, and their evident determination to prevent any reconciliation of the adverse parties in the States.

THE ELDEST DAUGHTER AT HOME.—To be able to get dinner, to sweep the room, to make a garment, to tend a baby, would add greatly to the list of a young lady's accomplishments. Where can we behold a more lovely sight than the eldest daughter of a family standing in the sweet simplicity of her new womanhood, by the side of her toiling, careworn mother, to relieve and aid her? Now she presides at the table, now directs in the kitchen, now amusing the fretting babe, now diverts half a score of little folks in the library. She can assist her younger brothers in their studies, read the newspaper to her weary father, or smooth the aching brow of her fevered mother. Always ready with a helping hand, or cheerful smile for every emergency, she is an angel of ove, and a blessing to the home circle. Should she be called out of it to originate a home of her own would she be any less lovely or self-sacrificing?

THE LAW.—Two Dutchmen, who built and used in common a small bridge over a stream which ran through their farms, had a dispute concerning some repairs which it required, and one of them positively refused to bear any portion of the expense necessary to the purchase of a few planks. Finally the aggrieved party went to a neighboring lawyer, and placing ten dollars in his hand, said:

"I'll give you all dish money if you'll make Hans do justice mit de bridge."

"How much will it cost to repair it?" asked the honest lawyer.

"Not more ish five dollars," replied the Dutchman.

"Very well," replied the lawyer, pocketing one of the notes, and giving him the other; "take this and go and get the bridge repaired; 'tis the best course you can take.

"Yaas," said the Dutchman slowly, "yaas, dat ish more better as to quarrel mit Hans;" but as he went along home he shook his head frequently, as if unable after all, to see quite clearly how he had gained anything by going to law.

DISTRESSING.—A few days since a fashionably dressed young lady, with one of those funny little hats upon her head, was slowly airing her charms along Washington street, Indianapolis, when she passed a country horse munching "stake oats"—the only cereal, to judge from his appearance, with which he had been acquainted for many a hungry month. A fanciful wreath of green leaves encircling the funny atom of a hat attracted the attention of old rack'o bones, and he nipped it. The hat was securely tied under the dimpled chin, and for a while the frightened lady, whose piercing shrieks alarmed the whole neighborhood, was in imminent danger of strangulation. Finally, however, something gave way, and the young lady fled, leaving the old horse quietly munching the wreaths and crown of her hat.

DUST.—A few Sabbaths since, Eda was, at her own request allowed to go to the Sabbath school for the first time, and there she learned the startling intelligence that she was made of dust! Little Eda's mind was fully impressed with the importance of the great truth, as was evinced by her frequent reference to the subject in the shape of questions answerable and unanswerable. This morning however she propounded a stunner which "brought down the house." Intently watching her mother sweeping, as if to learn the art she must finally practice, saying not a word, her eyes resting upon the little pile of dirt accumulated by the mother's broom. Just as the dirt was to be swept into the street, the little philosopher burst forth; "Ma! ma! why don't you save the dust to make some more little girls?"

MANHOOD AND WOMANHOOD.—Who are you, young man, young woman living in this country and age, and yet doing nothing to benefit others? Who are you—blessed with body and intellect, and yet an idler in the busy workshop of life? Who are you with immortal soul, and yet that soul so deaf to the myriad voices all about you that call to duty and to labor? Arise! and be a faithful toiler. God calls you—humanity calls you—and they have both a right to all your powers. Arise! Make your whole life one scene of industry! Arise and go forth, and every moment your feet shall press or your hand touch some pedal or key in the "organs that shake the universe." Arise! there is work for you to do. You were created to toil and bear a hand where the hammers of time are ringing as they fashion the fabric of eternity.

GOOD ADVICE.—Some one says: "Girls, let us tell you a stubborn truth! No young woman ever looks so well to a sensible young man, as when dressed in a plain, neat, modest attire without a single ornament about her person. She looks then as though she possessed worth in herself, and needed no artificial rigging to enhance her value. If a young woman would spend so much time in calculating her mind, training her temper, and cherishing kindness, mercy, and other good qualities, as most of them do in extra dress and ornaments, to increase their personal charms, she would at a glance, be known among ten thousand—her character would be read in her countenance."

WINGED GAME.—A late number of the London Athenæum, in reviewing a work on natural history, gives a list of the different terms which are properly applied to flocks of various kinds of winged game—a blunder in which would at once settle one's character as a sportsman. Thus one ought to say a brood of grouse, a bevy of quails, a cover of partridges, a covert of coots, a dropping of sheldrake, a flight of woodcock, a gaggle of geese (when they are at rest), a skein of geese (when on the wing), a herd of swans, a nid of pheasants, a spring of teal, a sege of herons, a team of wild ducks a trip of dotterels, a wing of plovers and a wisp of snipes.

MRS. PARTINGTON STILL TALKS.—"Dear me, how fluidly he talks?" said Mrs. Partington, recently at a temperance meeting. "I am always rejoiced when he mounts the nostril, for his eloquence warms every cartridge of my body."

It is estimated that three thousand emigrants have been killed on the way to Montana, this season.

A FABLE—A young man once picked up a sovereign lying on the road. Ever afterward, as he walked along, he kept his eyes steadfastly fixed on the ground, in hopes of finding another. And in the course of a long life he did pick up, at different times, a good amount of gold and silver. But all these days, as he was looking for them, he saw not that heaven was bright above him, and nature beautiful around. He never once allowed his eyes to look up from the mud and filth in which he sought the treasure, and when he died, a rich old man, he only knew this fair earth of ours as a dirty road to pick up money as you walk along.

MODERN FASHIONS.—A young "lady" from the country, now employed in a New York hoop skirt factory, is said to have written to a friend a letter from which the following is extracted:

"As for the lo necs, the loer it is the more fashunable you are, and the less close you ware the more you are dressed. miss Geolia gave me a blue silk of herze and i cut its nec orf and susan simmonz cut orf herz and we attrax a great deal of attenshun to our necs promenadin in the streets like other ladies an holdin up our close. Nobody isnt nothing who dusnt hold up her close, an the hier you holtz um the moar youre thot of."

THE VIRGINIA TOBACCO CROP.—The Richmond Whig says that the Virginia tobacco crop has turned out well, the quantity being considerable and the quality good. Nearly every farmer whose land admitted of it has raised tobacco, and as this is the great money crop of Virginia, the Whig anticipates that by the sale of their tobacco the farmers will be placed in a good financial position, and can begin their agricultural labor next year under better prospects.

THE MORMON WOMEN.—A Salt Lake correspondent says: The exceeding plainness, not to say ugliness of Mormon women is a fact that has been commented upon by almost all the different visitors to Salt Lake City, as indeed it was impossible for the most cursory observer to avoid noticing it; but although often mentioned, I doubt if justice has ever been done the subject, which appears to be one of those general rules to which there are very few, if any, exceptions.

"PUT down that pickle!" The words are uttered hurriedly and harshly by the sergeant, to an ungracious private, who, carried away by his hungry passions, has snatched a pickle from the barrel. "And why should I put down the pickle?" queries the private mildly. "Put down that pickle!—that's all I want of you," returned the sergeant, determinedly. "Down it goes then!" he cried, and stuffing it into his mouth it quickly disappeared.

ANECDOTE OF DR. GUTHRIE.—"They say I am growing old because my hair is silvered and there are crow's feet upon my forehead, and my step is not so firm and elastic as of yore. But they are mistaken. That is not me. The knees are weak, but the knees are not me. The eyes are dim, but the eyes are not me.—This is the house in which I live, but I am young—younger now than I ever was before."

"SIR," said a fierce lawyer," "do you, on your solemn oath, declare that this is not your handwriting?"

"I reckon not," was the cool reply.

"Does it resemble your handwriting?"

"Yes, sir I think it don't."

"Do you swear it don't resemble your writing?"

"Well I do old head."

"You take your solemn oath that this writing does not resemble yours in a single letter?

"Y-e-a-s, sir."

"Now how do you know?"

"Cause I can't write"

"SAMBO, am you posted in de natural sciences?"

"Sartingly—ob course I is."

"Can you tell me de cause ob de great rot in potatoes for de las' many years gone by?"

Oh, dat's easy 'nough for de merest chile in scientific larnin.' De great rot in potatoes is all owin' to de rot-toter-y motion ob de earth."

WHEN Daniel Webster was a young man about commencing the study of law, he was advised not to enter the legal profession, for it was already crowded. His reply was: There is room enough at the top."

A MILLER, in giving a testimonial to the proprietor of a powder for destroying vermin, astounded us with the assertions: "A fortnight since I was full of rats, and now I don't think I have one."

AN Irish girl at play on Sunday, was accosted by the priest, "Good morning daughter of the devil."

She meekly replied, "Good morning, father."

A LADY, speaking of the gathering of lawyers to dedicate a new court house, said she supposed they had gone "to view the ground where they must shortly lie."

"Do you think lager beer intoxicating?" "Vell, ash for dat, I gant say. I trink feefty to seexty classes a tay, end it tosh not hurt me, but I don't know how it would be if a man vash to make a hog of hisself."

AN old lady, hearing somebody say the mails were very irregular, said: "It was just so in my young days—no trusting any of 'em."

A friend says he's either head over heels in love or else he's got the colic—he can't tell which, as he is not certain which he tasted last, kisses or watermelons.

DEMOCRATIC JOLLIFICATION!

Celebration of the Defeat of the Constitutional Amendment!

The Democracy on the War-path Again!

Hickory may be Bent but cannot be Broken!

The Democrats of Bedford county, turned out in goodly numbers, on Monday evening last, to celebrate, in the Court House, the victory won in the late elections, in the defeat of the Constitutional Amendment. Thirteen States are now solidly arrayed against that monstrosity and it cannot become a part of the Constitution, unless it be written there in blood, with the point of the bayonet. Maryland drove the nail in the coffin-lid of the Amendment, and Delaware clinched it. Let it moulder into the vile dust from which it sprung.

The meeting was organized by the appointment of GEORGE ELDER, Esq., of Harrison, as President; J. T. Gephart, John C. Figard, Jacob Lingenfelter, Geo. W. Deal, John Blair, J. J. Powell, Wm. Gorsuch, Wm. Keyser, Daniel Stoler, James C. Devore, Dan'l Fletcher, James Sill, Bartley Hughes, Homer Neice, Harrison Hartley, H. F. Jmith, John Cavender, Francis Beard, Samuel Crisman, Josiah Ritchey, as vice presidents; and Jacob Beckley, E. F. Kerr and L. Defibaugh, Secretaries.

Able speeches were made by B. F. Meyers, Hon. F. Kimmell and Hon. J. McDowell Sharpe, and after repeated calls, Col. J. H. Filler addressed the meeting in a speech of great power and fervor. O. E. Shannon, Esq., closed the speech-making by one of his usually happy efforts, after which W. C. Schaeffer, Esq., read the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, By the Democracy of Bedford county in Mass Meeting assembled, That the preservation of our form of Government, is dearer to us than any other political consideration, and that in defeat, as well as in victory, we will cling to the Constitution as the only ark of safety for the American people.

Resolved, That two millions of Democratic voters in the Northern States are a power which must be respected by the representatives of the people in the law-making bodies of the country, a power capable of resisting usurpation any tyranny, and organized to vindicate the right, come weal, or come wo.

Resolved, That, in the future, as in the past, we will stand by the Integrity of the Union, and the Equality of the States, and that we protest against the assumption of Congress that the Union is broken and consists of but twenty-six States and that ten States (some of them of the glorious Thirteen of the Revolution) are no longer States, but conquered provinces.

Resolved, That the Democratic organization must be kept intact and carried forward to perfection. It is the only break-water against which the billows of fanaticism dash in vain; the only hope of a country divided by the machinations of New England demagogues, and robbed and plundered by the spoilsmen of a party which came into power by Disunion and which seeks to retain power by perpetuating Disunion.

Resolved, That we reiterate our approval of the course pursued by President Johnson for the purpose of re-uniting, in fact, as it is now and always was united in point of law, our distracted and faction-ridden country. The calumnies of his enemies and the plots of the enemies of the Union, cannot drive him from his position in defence of the Right, and in the end the people will rally to his support with a unanimity that will confound and silence those who now so malignantly assail him.

Resolved, That the result of the late elections in Maryland, Delaware and Kentucky, have decided the fate of the proposed Constitutional Amendment, making thirteen States whose Legislatures will reject that Amendment, thus assuring its defeat beyond all peradventure. We rejoice at "this consummation so devoutly to be wished," and congratulate the people upon this great victory over the unscrupulous men who are striving to alter and destroy our Republican form of government.

Resolved, That it is the duty of Congress to so modify the neutrality laws, as to relieve the Irish patriots who, in the late Fenian invasion of Canada, became prisoners to the Canadian authorities, from the persecution which they are now suffering at the hands of their captors, and we hereby request the member from this district to vote for such modification.

Resolved, That we want a Free Railroad Law passed, and request the Senators and Representatives from this district to vote for the same.

Resolved, That we will keep up the organization of the Democratic party, that we will fight on in the good cause, that we will never, never, yield until our banner shall float in triumph over the Capitol at Washington and the State House at Harrisburg, and "on this line we will fight it out if it takes" —forty summers.

The meeting then adjourned with ieers for Maryland and the Union.

TRUNCUS LOQUITUR.

A most singular phenomenon is exhibited in the case of the late Collector of Internal Revenue for this district. Whilst he yet had a head upon his shoulders, he would not utter a word against President Johnson, or his policy, but now that his head is off, he is as garrulous as a doting parrot, chattering all the while about the rebuke of the President by the late elections and subjects of a kindred nature. His newspaper (the Somerset Herald and Whig) is full of such talk as can only be uttered by a man without a head. For instance, in reply to our charge that some of the candidates of his party sent large sums of money into our county for the purpose of influencing the election in their favor, he does not deny the truth of our allegation, but says that "the funds" were sent here to defray the necessary expenses of the canvass. Now, if that isn't conclusive as to the virtuous intent with which "the funds" were furnished, what is the use in a man without a head trying to talk logic! Of course, "the funds" were sent here "to defray the necessary expenses of the canvass," but it so happened that it was a "necessary expense" to invest some of those "funds" in purchaseable voters. As to our intimation that the late Collector "had a singular admiration for President's Johnson's policy" before he was removed from office, our headless friend says that if we can "produce a single paragraph from the columns of the Herald and Whig expressive of President's Johnson's policy," we can "draw on him for fifty dollars," &c. It is but natural that when a man loses his head, he should become "short of memory." Hence it is, we presume, that our late lamented Collector has forgotten how vigorously he spat upon the platform of the last "Republican" State Convention, because it failed to endorse the President, and how truculently he afterwards battled with his political brother, the Chevalier McClure, all on account of the said McClure's opposition to the President. As our friend labors under the disadvantage of being without a head, we will permit him to take back his offer; but he must withdraw it before we get hold of a file of his paper, or we shall surely draw the "fifty." As to our intimating that he himself is "purchaseable," we never dreamed of such a thing! It is true it was our opinion that as long as his mouth was filled with Johnson's bread and butter, he would not bark much at the friends of the President, and for that reason we opposed, for a long time, his removal; but we didn't consider his silence the result of bribery; we regarded it as merely a quiet sort of gratitude to the man that fed him. But we scorn to parley further with a man without a head!

THE GRAND RESULT.

The Constitutional Amendment Killed!

Let us rejoice, for the proposed Constitutional Amendment is dead and buried. Kentucky struck it a deathblow, Delaware rolled it up in its winding sheet and Maryland drove the nail into its coffin-lid. So much for the firmness of the Democracy of the North. Had we wavered and cringed before the power of the party that made that Amendment an issue, the States of Kentucky, Maryland and Delaware could not have stood up against the onset made upon them. But the voice of two hundred and ninety thousand Democrats in Pennsylvania went up in cheer to the conservatives of those States, and they have crushed the monster and destroyed him. Let Massachusetts howl, let Ohio roar, let Iowa rage, thirteen States refuse to budge an inch toward the endorsement of the Amendment, leaving but twenty-three to vote for it, four less than the three-fourths required by the Constitution. This is the grand result of the late elections. After all, the bantling of the Mongrel Rump Congress, is dead, and as that was all that was in issue, the Democrats have won the victory at last. Bellow, oh! ye discomfited Mongrels! You are beaten, terribly beaten, and you must take up a new base or surrender. What will you do?

MASSACHUSETTS IN THE VAN!

Two negroes have been elected to the Massachusetts Legislature, one of them from Boston, the district in which Gov. Andrew resides. When we used to tell the people that if Negro Suffrage were allowed, Negroes would sit in our legislatures and on our juries, we were laughed at and the idea was sneered at as ridiculous. But here we have the verification of our prophecy, a verification which cannot be denied, or disputed. What does the Bedford Inquirer think about the choice of these negroes as legislators, by its party in Massachusetts? Let us hear from you, if you please.

THE Clearfield Republican has been enlarged and otherwise improved. It is a good paper. Success to you, brother Goodlander.

SANFORD CONOVER, the convenient witness of Judge Holt and Gen. Hunter, in the Military Commission trials of Mrs. Surratt, Payne, Dr. Mudd, and others for the assassination of President Lincoln, has been indicted for perjury committed by him on that trial. Holt himself had him arrested. Who knows the height and the depth of the infamy of which this perjured scoundrel may not have been guilty?

JAMES BROOKS, of New York, who was ousted in such a shamefully dishonest manner, from his seat in the last Congress, by one Dodge, has been re-elected by 6,000 majority. Wonder whether his seat will be contested this time?

THE Mongrels made the proposed Constitutional Amendment the issue in the late elections. It was the only issue. As three fourths of the States will not vote for its ratification, it is dead, dead as Julius Cesar! What next, oh! ye defeated and discomfited?

IT is said that Judge Bond, of Maryland is to be impeached. Better turn him over to the Freedmen's Bureau, under whose care all the late bond-men are now luxuriating, and toward whom he seems to have such strong affinities.

FORNEY quacked terribly in Baltimore, but his ducklings in Pennsylvania wouldn't come. They knew that there was no use in a Dead Duck fighting a 'Live Swan!

LETTER FROM KANSAS.

ATCHISON, KANSAS, Nov. 6, 1866.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—After perusing the columns of your ever welcome paper, as is the weekly custom of your correspondent, the idea struck me that a few lines from our young State would probably not be entirely devoid of interest to your numerous readers in old Bedford county. This has been an exciting day in Kansas. For the first time in five years, the good old Democratic party has had an opportunity to lift up its voice in Kansas—a small voice, it is true, but certainly one to gladden the heart of many a man who for that length of time, has had the very inviting privilege of voting a ticket either in direct opposition to his principles, or the alternative of disfranchisement; and surely the true men of our party would prefer the latter. The race in our city was very exciting. Our little handful of men used every exertion to bring out the strength of the party, and although unsuccessful, the Radical majority was so small as to give an emphatic warning of what they may expect in future.

Senator Pomeroy is here, and has been busily at work, for some time, engineering the election, so as to secure a continuance of his valuable (?) presence in that remarkably conscientious, Constitution-amending body that for the past five years has been scourging the American people in a style which entirely throws in the shade, Cholera and Yellow Fever in their most virulent forms.

A few days since I had the pleasure of meeting a gentleman, formerly of Bedford county, and although entirely unknown, his call was duly appreciated. A man from our native county, here is looked upon as one almost of the same family. That your faces are not more frequently seen, is certainly to be regretted. The facilities here offered for young men starting in life, are much greater than those of the east. Farmers can cultivate more land, with half the labor, the yield is much larger and prices equally as good; while the nearly nominal prices at which immense farms can be purchased, afford inducements to slim purses that can rarely be found. The population of Kansas, however, is rapidly increasing and in a few more years, we hope and expect to be classed among the first States of our Union. To give you an idea of this State as a stock raising country, I need merely to add that over eight thousand cattle, destined for the eastern markets, were crossed at our ferry into Missouri, during the month of September. The immense herds of sheep, horses, mules and cattle, which cover our plains, and are subsisted on grass at no expense, aside from the labor involved in herding, proves conclusively that the business is a successful and profitable one to those engaged. The most serious drawback experienced here, is the scarcity of timber. All our fuel, or nearly all, is brought from Missouri. It is true, the banks of our streams are mostly timbered, and the undergrowth already starting on our praries, as civilization advances, bids fair for the future, but its want of maturity is rather inconveniently felt at present. I see in your last issue, you speak with wonder, of a number of quails having made their appearance in your town. Were you here you would soon become accustomed to feats of that sort. The quails make semi-annual visits to our town and take to our houses and front yards, as naturally as geese take to water. For the past two weeks the hotel breakfasts of the writer have been frequently made savory by the unwary birds who came to their death the day previous, while quietly parading in the yard, or sitting on the house top. Although not much of a sportsman, I have, during the past summer, killed about one hundred and fifty prarie chickens, and often, while slaughtering the awkward monsters as they sailed through the air, have I wished for some of my young friends in Bedford, who consider the result of a successful hunt to consist of three or four ducks, or scarcely enough small birds to make a breakfast for the hunter. But in five minute it will be to-morrow, and having some consideration for the patience of your readers, I shall impose on them no longer. Hoping to see you in this section at some day not far distant, I remain

A FORMER PENNSYLVANIAN.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE LADY'S FRIEND, FOR DECEMBER.—The December number of this beautiful Magazine reminds us by its profuse display of attractions that the Holidays are approching. The charming Steel Engraving, "Under the Mistletoe," and the more elaborate design of that which is appropriately termed "Old Folks at Home and Young Ones Abroad," have a direct reference to the happy and festive Christmas season. These Engravings are executed on Steel, and in the finest style of art, as a comparison with those in other magazines will prove. Next, there is a beautiful Colored Engraving, designed as a Pattern for Berlin Wool Work and Beads—worth in itself double the price of the whole number. Then a splendid Double-laged Colored Fashion Plate—no common lithograph this, but finely executed in Steel, from the latest Parisian styles. PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—We are in receipt of this popular Lady's Magazine for December. It is a splendid number. The title page alone is worth the price of the number. For many years "Peterson's Magizine," in consequence of its merit and cheapness, has had a larger circulation than any other monthly in the United States. In 1867 it will be greatly improved: the reading matter will be increased, and each number will contain a Double-size Steel Fashion Plate, elegantly colored, with from four to six figures—making "Peterson" the cheapest in the world. The terms will remain two dollars a year to single subscribers. To clubs it is cheaper still, viz: five copies for $8.00, eight copies for $12.00, or fourteen copies for $20.00. To every person getting up a club (at these rates) the Publisher will send an extra copy gratis. Specimens sent (if written for) to those wishing to get up clubs. Address, post-paid, CHAS. J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

WENDELL PHILLIPS.—An extraordinary article, over the signature of Wendell Phillips, appeared in the Anti-Slavery Standard of Thursday last, and excited much remark, not only among professional politicians, but among people who usually take but little interest in the partisan conflicts of the day. The substance of the manifesto is, that, at the late elections, the people have given the Radicals a carte blanche to go ahead, and that Congress, accordingly, is called upon to go to work as soon as it re-assembles next month.

—"And throw all this chaff about Reconstruction out of one window, and swindling Constitutional Amendments out of the other: then impeach and remove the mobocrat of New Orleans and Baltimore. If enough patriots cannot be found to impeach the President, then let the true men in Congress stop the supplies and refuse to trust rebels with the public funds. At any cost, take the Government from the control of a rebel."

DULL TIMES.—The World says there is a universal complaint that business is dull. Before the elections it was supposed that the canvas had something to do with it, but now that the elections are over trade is worse than ever. The truth is that the country has a surfeit of high-priced goods. It costs so much for food, rent and fuel, that people have no money to spare for luxuries. Unless Congress contracts the currency and reduces taxation, production will come to a stand still, and trade, except for the barest necessaries, will languish. The first and best step towards continued prosperity would be a complete restoration of the Union; but that we cannot hope for now.

—The Baltimore horse fair was very largely attended on Saturday. General Grant and General Comstock, of his staff, and General Stoneman were present. The ex-rebel Gen. Joe Johnston was also on the ground, and shook hands with General Grant.

NEW COUNTERFEITS.—The following new counterfeits have just made their appearance in Philadelphia, and no doubt will be sent through the interior of the State everywhere, and we would therefore caution our readers to beware of them:

Bank of Pittsburg, Pittsburg, Pa 20s, vig female leaning on an urn filled with flowers.

Easton Bank, Easton, Pa. 100s, counterfeit—vig female seated—Indians—male head on each end.

First National Bank of Boston Boston, Mass. 100s, imitation, well done. Examine all notes of this denomination, as this plate will probably be altered to other banks.

Central National Bank, New York, City. 100s, imitation—well calculated to deceive an expert. Look out for them.

U. S. Treasury Notes, (Greenbacks.) 2s, Paper and engraving coarse. A poor affair.

U. S. Treasury Notes, (Greenbacks.) 5s—New counterfeit 5s of the issue of March 10, 1862, have just made their appearance in this city, the South having been pretty well flooded with them. The words "United States," when compared with those of a genuine bill, have a scratchy appearance. In general appearance, paper and printing, they are well calculated to deceive.

U. S. Treasury Notes, (Greenbacks.) 20s imitation. Read on top, Act of March 3, 1863. The female in the centre with left hand resting on a shield and right hand on a sword, has the head turned to the left and the eyes looking in the same direction. In the genuine, the head is turned the same, but the eyes are looking Front. ☞The foot in the counterfeit is distinctly seen and counts four toes; in the genuine it is not visible. On the reverse side, in the words "United States of America," the shading runs all through the letters; in the genuine, the letters are shaded on the edge only, showing white between.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES.—To cure consumption, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. Schenck's Mandrake Pills cleanse the stomach of all bilious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is nutritious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action.—Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. 2d w

ASTHMA CURED.- Wm. May, of 245 Spring st., New York, writes, Jan'y 1, 1866: I have been afflicted with asthma for upwards of ten years, receiving no benefit from medical men. I was advised by a friend to try one of Allcock's Porous Plasters I said, I had tried several kinds of plasters without any benefit, and supposed they were all alike. My friend gave me one of Allcock s, and urged me to use it I did so, and have now worn them steadily for nine months, and find my self better than I have been for many years

A HUMBUG.—How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of patent medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right. It is over 19 years since I introduced my medicine, the VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me. But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash. I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally (see oath accompanying each bottle) and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c. Sold by all the druggists. Depot, 56 Cortlandt street, New York. oct19w7

PAY THE PRINTER!

We have just sent a number of bills to persons indebted to us for job work and advertising. This kind of work is always intended to be cash, but we have waited for months on some of it and for years on others. We must have those bills paid. Had we no debts of our own, we might give a hundred years' grace to those who owe us. But we must pay our debts, and, hence, we are compelled to collect from those who are indebted to us. The books of B. F. Meyers are also unsettled and must be closed up. We are driven to sending bills to all, irrespective of persons, and we hope that we will not be compelled to resort to any thing more stringent. But we must have our books squared up, and a word to the wise is sufficient.

THE METEORS.—Some of our young friends have got excited over the Meteor question and thus deliver themselves:

With curiosity, like many of my neighbors, I spent the night of the 12th and morning of the 13th inst., watching the appearance of the meteoric shower, which astronomers said would take place at that time. Patiently the midnight vigil was kept, sincerely hoping that we could see the meteors; for they felt only once in 33 years we were anxious to witness them. But our watching was in vain. Either there was a wrong calculation or they were hindered in their course by the towering Alleghanies, or something else. All day of the 13th, numbers of sleepy individuals were seen, showing by their half-closed eyes, that they, too, had spent a night in weary star-gazing. Many of us intending to make up our lost rest, retired early to bed, to dream of bright meteors shooting across the heavens; but at an early hour, we were awakened by the ringing of bells. The first thought was fire; the second—where are our engines? the third and last thought, surely now the showers are coming, and kind considerate individuals are calling the good people of Bedford up to witness them. We blessed those who were willing to lose sleep that they might awaken us to witness the grand meteoric shower. Looking at our watch the time was a quarter of three. Hastily dressing, we appeared on the street, looked eagerly up to the quiet sky, but our gaze met no bright meteors with their trail of fire. We concluded we were "sold," and wishing to see how good-humored our neighbors would take the sell, we took a station on the highway, as the bells continued to ring. Lights were seen in almost every house, windows were heard opening, then doors, and soon on the streets numbers of citizens hastily gathered, shivering with cold, gazed long and often, old men with spectacles looked, then removed their glasses, wiped them, thinking them dusty, then put them on again, but saw no meteors; others came to the doors in their stocking feet, asking with anxiety and interest, "What's the matter?" One youth who, as he ran, answered musically and comically, with voice half full of laughter, "Meteors!" The questioner gazed a moment into the sky, then closed the door with a bang, exclaiming as he crawled into bed, "Sold!" The excitement became so great that the chief bailiff appeared, ordering the groups to disperse, but what was one man among so many excited star-gazers? He was told to wait, and when the falling meteors lighted up the murky night, he could see clearly the road to drive straggling swine, that were locked out, to the town pound, and thus pecuniarily benefit himself. The bailiff waited not, but left in disgust. After watching in vain for the meteors, we returned to bed, concluding astronomers had made a mistake, and the last sound heard was the early morning air, was "Meteors!" Can any one inform us when the meteoric shower will really take place? If some body will do it, it will be considered a great favor by many who lost much sleep watching for them.

ONE WHO GAZED,
BUT GAZED IN VAIN.

GRAND ILLUMINATION IN BEDFORD.—Mr. Editor:—I suppose you have heard of "them stars" which have created so much attraction on the mornings of the 13th and 14th inst. Almost every house from "Texas" to "Toad-town," from the banks of the Raystata to the Southern suburbs of "ye ancient city," were illumined by lights at half-mast, notwithstanding the Burgess and Council had made ample provisions to notify the people in case of the "shower," by appointing a squad of our citizens to act as an alarm force. During the early part of the night the streets were made quite lively by the numerous promenading gazers, a good-sized number of which were fair ones. At last o'clock, owing to the inclemency of the weather, the majority thought proper to "go for" their respective posts, among which were two eminent astronomers who took up quarters at —— on Pitt Street, and from what we judged of astronomy, were not well versed in the "biz," having their flags at full mast, shutters closed and locks up. No doubt they did see stars while asleep. At a mansion on Juliana street, were to be found the headquarters of the "Zozodont" and "Bloom of Youth" man; also, that of a dentist, who, 'tis thought, a part of the "Engineer Corps," all "waiting for the stars to fall,"—lights at half-mast. On Richard St. was to be found a Lieutenant's command—lights full blast. A few doors above the "Regulator" were several citizens and a schoolmaster, waiting and watching—lights bright. At the eastern termination of the Borough line was stationed a certain mustached "typo", waiting patiently for the "fall," and, no doubt, picturing in his mind the glowing description he would give in a "local"—lights very dim. At the other extremity of the same square, a "benzine" man with a young mustache was posted. The old and well established refreshment saloon of B. & McM., was the general resort for those who had no particular posts, a comfortable fire, large stock of oysters and general accommodations. From this "posish" one could command a fine view of Pitt St. entire. At 3 o'clock all was quiet along the line, nothing to mar the general calm, save an occasional, "Have they fell yet?" or, "I wish they would soon begin," or "I'm so s-l-e-e-p-y!" &c., coming from the now dozing star-gazers—but, hark! that gong proclaims "They Fall!" "They Fall!" A general break is made by the vigilant watchers throughout the town, being aware that the signal given was that of the force appointed by the Burgess and Council, and which consisted of several lawyers, (one of whom had the gong in charge), a proprietor of a Hotel, a dentist and others. They took up their line of march on Julianna St., proceeding down Pitt, making a general survey of the town, sounding the gong and ringing the bells. Great was the disappointment at the above false alarm, for, be it known, the stars didn't fall. But there were others than those who were watching, who were disappointed.—For instance, a young lawyer, boarding at the "Washington House," left his couch very hurriedly, appearing on the balcony, minus his accoutrements, and upon realizing the fact, made his exit with, "Hum, sold!—wonder where consuble is?—somebody ought go for 'im!" Four o'clock found all quiet, the man of the gong beneath a nine-gallon hat, guarding a butcher shop on Pitt St., and thus ended the falling of the meteors in Bedford, in 1866.

"BUB."

THE BROAD TOP RAIL ROAD.—The Bedford Inquirer, of last week, makes a rather ugly attack upon the management of the Broad Top Railroad. We don't pretend to say that that road is what it ought to be, but we do think that there is neither sense, nor use, in the sort of complaint made by the Inquirer. The "trestles" (which are the only parts of the road of which the Inquirer complains) have all been renewed within the last two years. True, the old bents of trestling are left standing, the new ones being placed in between them, so that these bridges are really just as much stronger than they were originally, as the strength of the old bents amounts to. The heaviest coal trains pass over this road without any injury to the "trestles," and certainly passenger trains can be in no danger of breaking through a bridge that sustains the weight of the former. The fact is, that there is a continual renewing of the trestles going on, the decayed timbers being replaced by sound ones, as soon as discovered. Nobody likes the looks of bridges such as these. Nobody fancies short curves, especially when cattle are on the track. But, the history of the Broad Top road shows that fewer accidents, have occurred upon it than upon almost any other road in the State, within the same length of time. The truth is, that careless running has more to do with railroad accidents than trestles or curves. If the Inquirer will change its base and attack from a different stand-point, perhaps there would be a little more truthfulness in its facts, as well as fairness in its argument.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—As announced last week, Revs. Mitchell, West and Fitzgerald, preached in the Presbyterian Church during the latter part of the week, and on Sunday morning installed the Rev. A. C. V. Schenck as Pastor. On Sunday afternoon, a Communion Service was held and an appropriate sermon was preached in the evening. The whole series of services was one of unusual interest, and the sermons were powerful and instructive exhibitions of truth. They will be long remembered by those who had the pleasure of hearing them. The Sabbath services were attended by large audiences, and the church has marked it as "a good day." As the result of the pastoral relations now established a future of unusual prosperity and usefulness is anticipated by the church.

STEAM MILL.—The Messrs. Hartley, as our readers are aware, have erected a very large steam flouring mill in this place. It is complete in all its parts, and shows more progress in our ancient borough than any enterprise commenced here for some time. The sound of the steam whistle reminds one so much of the noise of a railroad locomotive, that we almost fancy we hear the rattle and thunder of the train speeding its way toward Bedford. The Mill is now in operation and is a grand success.

NEW COUNTERFEIT.—A new and dangerous counterfeit of the fifty dollar legal tender notes, has appeared. It may be detected by the vignette of General Hamilton, which, on inspection, was found to have been split from a two dollar Treasury note and neatly pasted on the counterfeit fifty. The engraving of the other portions of the note is cleverly imitated, and can only be distinguished from the genuine by the closest inspection.

THANKSGIVING.—In accordance with the proclamation of the President of the United States, Union Services will be held in the Presbyterian Church, on the 29th inst., at 11 o'clock, A. M. Sermon by Rev. H. Heckerman. Subject:—The Christian's Duty in Civil or National Life.

THANKSGIVING proclamations are now irreverently, but more euphoniously, designated as "turkey talk."

LIME.—We notice as an item of local interest, that some of our neighbors are beginning to turn their attention to this great fertiliser. Farms will wear out. The little manure made in the barn-yards will not supply what the cultivation of fields will exhaust. The land must get thin, and farming, as a consequence, will not pay. The farmers of Lancaster, Franklin and other counties, where lime can be had, understand this, and it is no uncommon thing for them to haul lime a distance of fifteen miles and pay a good price for it at the kiln. It pays at the end of seven years better than at first. As a matter of dollars and cents, besides the satisfaction of reaping when you sow, we would urge every farmer on lime-stone, slate or gravel land—even on the sides of the sandy mountains, to lime his land. Apropos of this, we understand that our townsman, O. E. Shannon, has a regular draw-kiln now in operation, and that the demand for lime is on the increase.

REDUCTION IN PRICES.—During the past week the price of flour has fallen about $1 50 per barrel, and other provisions will probably fall in proportion. Unless something unusual should occur, there will most likely be a still further decline in the price of flour and grain. The provision speculators in our large cities appear to have slightly overreached themselves. Large cargoes of wheat, bacon, flour, &c., which had been sent to Europe, are reported to have been sent back to this country for a better market, and the speculators, who had hoarded up a large stock in the hope of making fortunes this winter, suddenly found the market overstocked.

LONG EVENINGS.—Let every one during the long evenings of winter, labor to improve himself; and parents should not neglect their children. One of the best things a parent can put into the hands of a child that can read, is a good newspaper. There are hundreds of Democrats yet in this county who do not take a home paper. They always regret our defeats at the elections, but are slow to contribute in the right direction for the promotion of Democracy. There is not a democratic family in the county but which ought to take a home paper. Its influence may not at once be seen, but it will sooner or later be felt. Will our democratic friends properly look at this matter? It is by the slow process of gradual education that permanent public opinion is formed.

PROPER VENTILATION.—The pernicious practice of retiring to bed in chambers containing stoves, with the windows closed tightly, and all other channels of ventilation shut up, should be discarded at once. If the door of a bed chamber is not provided with a transom, the upper sash of the window should in all cases be lowered several inches, in order to admit a proper quantity of pure breathing air. Deaths are very frequently caused by improper ventilation. We read, no longer ago than yesterday, of the death of a young lady, caused by breathing the poisonous gases from a coal oil lamp, which she allowed to remain burning in her room over night.

A USEFUL INVENTION.—Our ingenious friend, D. A. T. Black, Esq., has invented, and obtained a patent for, an improved sled, which is provided with wheels on the inside of the "runners," which are let down, the sled being at the same time elevated, by machinery managed by the driver. These wheels are intended to run the sled over the bare ground, and we think will answer the purpose admirably. The whole arrangement is very simple and easily worked. A good thing can be made out of the purchase of rights.

VISITORS.—Among the distinguished strangers present at our late session of Court, we noticed Hon. F. M. Kimmell and Hon. J. McDowell Sharpe, of Chambersburg, Geo. A. Smith, Esq., of McConnellsburg, and Col. J. D. Roddy, of Somerset, all in good health, and capital Democrats in the bargain.

MUST REDEEM.—A misapprehension has been entertained by some of the national banks that they are not obliged to redeem mutilated notes except at discount. Holders of such notes should in no case allow this discount. The banks are bound to redeem the notes at par, both at their own counters and at their redeeming agencies.

THURSDAY, the 29th inst., is the day set apart by the President for Thanksgiving and Prayer. The turkey tribe are in high state of consternation in consequence, and threaten to take part with the Radicals in impeaching the President unless he withdraws his offensive Proclamation.

BEAR KILLED.—Tobias Snyder, Thomas Steel and Jacob E. Ritchey killed a bear, a few days ago, on Tussey's mountain, about five miles north of Bedford Forge, which weighed 310 lbs., and measured four inches across the back. Mr. Snyder's shot killed him. Pretty good for our mountains.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. A. R. Miller will deliver, in the M. E. Church, in this place, on next Sabbath, at 10½ o'clock, A. M., his second sermon on the "Centenary of Methodism." Subject:—The Rise and Progress of Methodism in America.

RENOVATION OF THE COURT HOUSE.—The Commissioners have refitted and repainted the Court House, and it is now both comely and comfortable. The Commissioners deserve the thanks of the public for their attention to the comfort of those attending Court.

SWORN IN.—David Howsare, Esq., has been sworn in as Commissioner, He will make an efficient officer. Geo. Roads, Esq., is the retiring member of the board. Good luck attend him.

THE newspapers in various parts of our country are noting an immense increase in marriages since the close of the war, showing that nature is extending her recuperative power to make up for the ravages of the battle field and the hospital. Statistics state an increase of 55 per cent. in '66 over 1860.

THE cabbage crop, always cared for by our German farmers, and of late years grown into importance everywhere, is pronounced this season to be most abundant and of the finest quality. The many lovers of sourkraut will be glad to learn this fact.

LAST week a number of counterfeit one dollar greenbacks were passed at different places. The bills are new and likely to deceive poor judges. Be ye also careful, and examine your one dollar bills.

FEMALE clerks are now employed in the Dead Letter office at Washington. What a paradise of enjoyment for curious women! We know of a few that such situations would just suit.

A NEW bonnet, asserted to be the latest and loveliest, has made its appearance. It looks very much like a clam shell topped off with an acorn. They are very pretty—what there is of them.

THESE autumnal days are becoming most provokingly shortened at both ends. They keep a man moving about briskly to accomplish much between sunrise and sundown.

REDUCTION IN PRICE OF THE
AMERICAN WATCHES,
MADE AT WALTHAM, MASS.

In consequence of the recent great improvements in our manufacturing facilities, we have reduced our prices to as low a point as they can be placed WITH GOLD AT PAR,
so that no one need hesitate to buy a watch now from the expectation that it will be cheaper at some future time. The test of ten years, and the manufacture and sale of

MORE THAN 200,000 WATCHES,

have given our productions the very highest rank among time keepers. Commencing with the determination to make only thoroughly excellent watches, our business has steadily increased as the public became acquainted with their value, until for months together, we have been unable to supply the demand. We have repeatedly enlarged our factory buildings until they now cover over three acres of ground, and give accommodation to more than eight hundred workmen. We are fully justified in saying that we now make more than
sold in the United States. The different grades are distinguished by the following trade-marks on the plate:

1. "American Watch Co." Waltham, Mass.
2. "Appleton, Tracy & Co." Waltham, Mass.
3. "P. S. Bartlett," Waltham, Mass.
4. "Wm. Ellery."
5. Our LADIES' WATCH of first quality is named "Appleton, Tracy & Co." Waltham, Mass.
6. Our next quality of Ladies' Watch is named "P. S. Bartlett," Waltham, Mass. These watches are furnished in a great variety of sizes and styles of cases.

The AMERICAN WATCH Co. of Waltham, Mass., authorize us to state that without distinction of trade-marks or price, ALL the products of their Factory are FULLY WARRANTED to be the best time-keepers of their class ever made in this or any other country. Buyers should remember that unlike the guarantee of a foreign maker who can never be reached, this guarantee is good at all times against the Company or their agents, and that if after the most thorough trial, any watch should prove defective in any particular, it may be always exchanged for another. As the American Watches made at Waltham, are for sale by dealers generally throughout the country, we do not solicit orders for single Watches.

CAUTION.—The public are cautioned to buy only of respectable dealers. All persons selling counterfeits will be prosecuted.

SEND FOR A CIRCULAR.

The ingredients used in compounding Mishler's Herb Bitters are not kept secret by the Proprietor. Send for a circular and you will learn the medical properties of all the articles used in its preparation; also in the manner in which they operate on the system, and much other valuable information. If you are afflicted with disease send for one of Mishler's Herb Bitters Circulars; read it carefully, profit by the hints it contains, and you will be placed on the sure road of recovery.

MISHLER'S BITTERS WILL CURE ALL DISEASES OF THE SKIN!

Diseases of the skin are numerous and, with but one or two exceptions, may all be traced to impurity of the blood. In many persons this impurity is born in the system; while others acquire it through improper treatment of scores of diseases. Under this head may be classed—

1st, Scrofula.—This disease is hereditary and is transmitted from generation to generation It is caused by a transgression of the laws of nature, both moral and physical; in other words, it is caused by vice. Acting as a latent poison, it reduces the vitality of the blood, and weakens the depurating organs, so that they fail to discharge or cast out the impurities that are continually generating in the system. A person physically pure acquires gonorhœa, or some other secret disease; he undergoes a course of mercury, the disease is dried up, and the patient pronounced well. Vain delusion. The complaint is not cured, its channel is only diverted. Instead of making its appearance outwardly, it acts on the internal organs, and scrofula, which is bequeathed from father to son, is the result. Many persons who are perfectly free from all immorality and vice are afflicted with scrofula. They are suffering for the sins of their fathers and laboring under the curse inscribed inscribed in the Book of Books. "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

To cure this dreadful complaint it is necessary that the blood should be thoroughly purified, all the organs of the body brought into a healthy state of action, and the system braced up and strengthened by invigorating tonics. Look at the articles used in compounding Mishler's Bitters; see the array of purifying and invigorating medicaments, and say whether there is an article in the whole list of medicines that equals it. We here emphatically assert, without fear of contradiction, that Mishler's Bitters will Cure all kinds of Scrofulous Diseases.

It purifies the blood, it strengthens the internal organs and aids them to perform their natural functions, it is a stimulant and a tonic and it will cure Scrofula.

2d, Running Sores and Ulcers.—Running sores and ulcers invariably indicate a scrofulous taint. They are caused by the efforts of nature to discharge the impurities of the blood. Many persons afflicted with running sores and ulcers succeeded in drying them up and think they are cured when the skin grows over the sore. They are, however, "but making bad worse," for the impurities that were discharged from the system through the medium of the sore now act internally and cause innumerable diseases and often death. The only true and sure cure for all running sores and ulcers is Mishler's Bitters, a continued and persevering use of which will most certainly effect a permanent cure.

3d, Salt Rheum.—Salt Rheum is a vague, indefinite, though, popular term given to almost all the non-febrile eruptions of the skin which afflict adults. It is generally an eruption of vesicles in small, distinct ulcers, accompanied with a smarting, tingling sensation, with a tendency to creep or spread over the adjoining surface. Mishler's bitters are a sure cure for this disease.

4th. Pimples and Blotches.—Pimples and Blotches on the skin are always a sure sign of impure blood. Although never dangerous, except in cases of carbuncles, they are very disagreeable.—Often we will see the most handsome features rendered hideous by great blotches and pimples, and instead of the pleasing look which should irradiate the human face we see nothing but disgusting corruption; for pimples and blotches are nothing but the corrupt accumulations of the system expelled through the medium of the skin. The use of Mishler's Bitters will force these corruptions to be discharged through the natural channels, and thus cures all kinds of pimples and blotches. Ladies who desire a fair complection, free from pimples should bear this fact in mind.

J. W. BRADLEY'S
CELEBRATED PATENT
DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the DUPLEX ELLIPTIC SKIRT will be experienced particularly in crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring Skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the single spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary Skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered: preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the STANDARD SKIRT of the Fashionable World!

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, viz. superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, inquire for

J. W. BRADLEY'S DUPLEX ELLIPTIC, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition, be particular to notice that Skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz: "J W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—☞ none others are genuine. Also notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

For sale in all stores where first class Skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the sole owners of the patent.

ON SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1866, Messrs. TICKNOR & FIELDS began the publication of a weekly journal entitled

EVERY SATURDAY:
A JOURNAL OF CHOICE READING,
SELECTED FROM FOREIGN CURRENT LITERATURE.

Much of the best literature of the day is found in the English and Continental magazines and periodicals; and it is the design of the Publishers of this new journal to reproduce the choicest selections from these for American readers, in a form at once attractive and inexpensive. The publishers believe that such a journal, conducted upon the plan which they propose, will be not only entertaining and instructive in itself, but interesting and valuable as a reflex of foreign periodical literature of the better class.

EVERY SATURDAY is intended for town and country, for the fireside, the seaside, the railway and the steamboat. Its plan embraces Incidents of Travel and Adventure, Essays Critical and Descriptive, Serial Tales, Short Stories, Poems, Biographies, Literary Intelligence, etc., in connection with judicious selections from the admirable popular papers on science which are constantly appearing in foreign periodicals. The value of these papers arises from the fact that scientific subjects, however harsh and dry in themselves, are here treated in so graphic and picturesque a style as to charm the reader while instructing him.

It will be, in short, the aim of its publishers that EVERY SATURDAY shall commend itself by its freshness and variety to all classes of intelligent and cultivated readers.

EVERY SATURDAY will contain each week thirty-two large octavo pages, handsomely printed in double columns, with an engraved title.

TERMS.

THE NEW YORK NEWS,
The only Recognized Democratic Newspaper published in New York,
DAILY, SEMI-WEEKLY, AND WEEKLY.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE NEW YORK NEWS has battled against despotism for four years of blood and terror in assertion of the sanctity of the Constitution. A patriotism sufficiently broad to embrace both sections has been its only guide, and it refers now with honest pride to its record to show that it has not turned to the right or the left under all the violence of arbitrary power.

True to its principles as THE NEWS has been through the reign of terror, it challenges public confidence in its honesty and independence for the future.

The political transition of the present day opens to THE NEWS a new and wider field of usefulness. Standing now as it always has, on the inviolability of the Constitution, according to the interpretation of the strict constructionists, it presents a rallying ground for all, in both sections, who are friends of a generous conservatism. As a true and tried exponent of sectional amity it occupies a position which makes it the fitting mediator in holding up to the party of order in both sections, interests and principles that gave breadth and vitality to their alliance. As an intersectional agent, devoted to freedom of election, to trial by jury, to the sanctity of the habeas corpus, and opposed now, as for four years of terror it has been, to the centralization that dares to trample on the rights of States. North or South, THE NEWS places itself as a candidate for support before the great body of this once free people.

The circumstances of the moment make the dissemination of the principles of THE NEWS a duty of individual patriotism. Every man who concurs in its doctrines must if he entertain a true sense of freedom, do so in no spirit of indifference, but rather with the earnestness of a high trust. Justified, nay bound in his love of liberty to do so, the proprietor places the canvass he makes here of the public generally in the hands of those men who give him the approval of their consciences as his individual agents. Every reader of the THE NEWS cannot avoid the conviction of duty which is here pointed out as the ground of the request, that he urges his claims for a wider support upon all of his friends and neighbors who give their earnest sympathies to the cause of "strict construction," intersectional conciliation, and all the rights of the citizen under the system set up by our fathers of liberty regulated by law. The proprietor of THE NEWS calls, therefore, upon true and good conservatives throughout the country to discharge, to their convictions of political right at this great crisi in the country's fortunes, the duty of giving to the influence of his paper, daily, semi-weekly, or weekly, the wider power for good which it seeks here through the service of its individual supporters.

[From the Philad'a Evening Bulletin, Mar., 10.]

We are gratified to hear of the continued success, in New York, of our townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist. His store, next to the Metropolitan Hotel, is 28 feet front, 230 feet deep, and five stories in height. It is certainly a grand establishment, and speaks favorably of the merit of his articles. He retains his Office and Laboratory in this city, which are also model establishments of their class.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are

GENUINE PREPARATIONS,

And, knowing that the intelligent refrain from using any thing pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled Doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare pharmaceutical preparations.

SHRINERS BALSAMIC COUGH SYRUP.
For Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting Blood, Pain and Weakness of the Breast, Difficulty of Breathing, &c.

This is no new remedy. It has been used for a number of years in Maryland and parts of Pennsylvania, and has, wherever known, acquired an unprecedented reputation for curing the various diseases for which it is recommended.

So apparent is its usefulness, and so remarkabl has been its cures, that it is fast superceding every other remedy for those diseases. The afflicted carely upon its doing as much for them, and in many cases more than any other remedy now be ore the public.

It is recommended and prescribed in the practice of a large number of the most intelligent and able physicians of Maryland. It is used and considered an indispensable household remedy by a large portion of the first families of the State.

It is used by all classes of society, and the universal opinion is that it is good. This Syrup is Purely Vegetable Compound. It is pleasant to take, and never does injury. But owing to its purifying qualities, must do good under any circumstances. Its effects are truly wonderful, soothing
